DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claims 1-5 appear to claim that the fluorosilane and polysilazane are applied together, whereas the specification makes it clear that the polysilazane is applied first, followed by the fluorosilane. Claim 1 refers to the fluorosilane/polysilazane as a primer, but the specification teaches that the polysilazane is primer to the fluorosilane.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The molar mass of the polysilazane at 4:17-18 is 300-10000 g/mol, not 150-150000 g/mol. Thus claim 1 is not enabled.

4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

It is not clear what is cured: The primer of claim 1 is claimed to be “cured”. The primer of claim 1 apparently is made up of both the fluorosilane and polysilazane. However, in claim 6, it is claimed that “the composition” (i.e polysilazane/solvent/catalyst) is cured.

5. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Page 6, line 31 and claim 7 both list a “methoxytriethoxy” of silane as one of the compounds used. However, if the silane had both a methoxy group and 3 ethoxy groups, there would not be a perfluoroalkyl group, thus rendering the claimed invention inoperable.

Art Unit: 1792

6. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Page 6, line 25 refers to the perfluoroalkyl as a first step in the claimed invention. However, a reading of the remainder of the specification teaches that this is a second step.

7. Claims 4, 5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

“and mixtures thereof” in each of these claims is new matter that was not in the specification as originally filed, and is therefore new matter.

The applicant is requested to cancel all new matter.

8. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1792

9. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a) Claim 1: it is not clear what the primer is being used to prime. There is no claim to another coating on the fluorosilane/polysilazane.

b) Claim 4: it is not clear how saturated, unsaturated, aliphatic and alicyclic modify each other, thus rendering the claim indefinite.

c) Claim 5: it is not clear why there is an “and” before “aliphatic”.

d) Claim 6: formula 1 should be shown in this claim, for clarity.

e) Claim 7: there is no antecedent basis for “said silane”.

f) Claim 7: a “methoxytriethoxy” silane would not have a valence left for the perfluoroalkyl group.
